

Katie Glick

Director of Children/ Youth Discipleship and Outreach

Katie grew up an Air Force brat. Her dad retired when she was in high school in Fairfax and NOVA has been her home ever since. Katie earned her BA in Psychology from George Mason University with a minor in Religious Studies. She then went on to earn a MEd with a concentration in Severe Disabilities. After she graduated, she began a career as a special education teacher. In the time since, Katie has worked in the classroom, in administration, and in the church setting. After directing Burke United Methodist Preschool for 8 years, Katie transitioned into the role of Director of Children and Youth Discipleship at BUMC in 2021.

Katie is passionate about providing intentional, meaningful, and enriching discipleship opportunities for children and youth that help them to grow spiritually and she is passionate about fostering an inclusive environment where ALL children, youth, and families are welcomed, affirmed, and excited to participate in the life of the church.

Katie and her husband Dave are blessed with their children Casey (14), Sasha (9), & Zac (7). In her free time Katie enjoys camping with her family, going on hikes, and reading a good book.
