

Rev. Evelyn Archer-Taminger

Associate Pastor

Evelyn grew up in Yorktown, VA and the United Methodist Church has been home for her entire life. She first began to understand a call to ministry as a tween, and ever since then, has aimed to educate herself and grow in faith to serve the church in the world!

She has a BA in Religious Studies and Communications from Randolph-Macon College and received an MDiv from Duke Divinity School. Throughout her vocational education she has been blessed to serve multiple churches as a Pastoral Intern, as well as two nonprofits (Highland Support Project [Xela, Guatemala] and Student Action with Farmworkers [Durham, NC]). She is also grateful for her experience in Clinical Pastoral Education! Some of her passions in ministry include social justice, preaching/public proclamation, worship leading, ministry with LatinX Migrant Communities, LGBTQ+ support, pastoral care in chronic illness, and church administration.

In her free time, she loves hiking, playing music (her instrument of choice is the Tuba!), comic books and movies, rewatching musicals, caring for animals, studying history/current events, and having insightful conversations. She is blessed to share a life with her husband Aaron (who works in Forestry), baby daughter Adeline, and sweet pup Peaches.
